Debaters Close Season With Two Big Tourneys

Bob Goldsmith and John Baynes brought Loyola's tournament debate season to a virtual close with an eight round marathon tournament at American U. last weekend. Tom Dwyer and Nelson Cooney had been with them the weekend before at Georgetown's Cherry Blossom Tournament.

Thirty schools from the middle Atlantic area met at American U.'s meet. Loyola's men met Rutgers, St. Vincent's, Scranton, Seton Hall, La Salle, Villanova, Lehigh and Morgan, and gathered 9 of the 16 judges' decisions.

Notre Dame, Chicago, Florida and Dartmouth were among the 14 colleges Loyola debated at the Cherry Blossom festival.

The season saw Loyola attending 13 tournaments and taking part in almost 150 debates. The men travelled 3,000 miles in the process, the longest trip being the trek to Harvard early this semester. Almost all the debates were on the national topic, "Resolved that Congress should be given power to reverse decisions of the Supreme Court." Notable exceptions — and another innovation — were the extemporaneous debates at the First Evergreen Tournament held on campus on March 5.

Conference Set For Evergreen

On April 2 the Maryland Personnel and Guidance Association, under the auspices of the national American Personnel and Guidance Association, will hold the annual Spring Conference here at Evergreen.

After an official welcoming by the College, the four hundred counselors of elementary, secondary and schools of higher education will attend the various lecture-discussion groups headed by the panel moderator — Miss Sarah L. Leiter, the Supervisor of Public Services for the Maryland State Department of Education. Delivering the keynote address will be Miss Wilhelmine E. Meissner, the acting Director of Guidance for New York City.

The registration will begin at 9 a.m. followed by a general meeting of the counselors who will comprise the panels. Topics to be covered include Educational Testing, Psychological Services, Psychiatry and School Social Work.

Council Notes

New Constitution

At today's meeting in Xavier Lounge, the Student Council will receive the first draft of the new Constitution for Loyola College. When passed in Council, this will be put to a referendum vote of the student body.

Investigating Everything

Continuing its policy of investigating everything, Student Council last Friday instituted a new committee to investigate "Academic Punishments administered for non-Academic Disciplinary Problems." Sophomore representative, Ham Dugan, who introduced the motion, was appointed by the chair to head the committee.

Spot News

Have to be there

Word from the Dean of Men's Office has it that all students will be required to attend Mass next Friday, April 1. Time of the Mass is 8:30 a.m. and attendance slips will be handed in. The Mass has been arranged at express request of Archbishop Keough.

Students Meet

On Wednesday, March 30, another in a series of Student Assemblies will be held in Cohn Hall during the one o'clock activity period. This will be basically a continuation of the previous assembly on student activities.

Thespians Prepare

The Evergreen Players have finished casting for their next production, which will be "Bell, Book, and Candle." The leading characters in this story of witchcraft will be played by Phil Flynn and Ruthie Zaroba.

Teacher Conducts Workshop

Fr. Scanlan, Professor of Psychology and Theology, will conduct a workshop on "The Spiritual Needs in the Atomic Age" at the annual convention of the Baltimore Holy Name Society at the Lord Baltimore Hotel on April 3.

Paul Cawthorne Proposes 'Drastic' Course Changes

Drastic changes in philosophy and theology requirements and in class attendance regulations will be proposed by Paul Cawthorne to the Student Council at today's meeting.

First, it is proposed that the philosophy course at present be spread over a four year period. Counting theology, Loyola seniors have nine credits each semester in subjects other than their major course of study. This occurs at a time when their basic motivation is to prepare themselves in their majors, so as to be on a par with graduates of other colleges.

As pointed out by Cawthorne, taking logic in junior year is redundant because many students in the early math and science courses get a treatment of logic before they reach their junior year. Logic is such a basic subject that it would be a distinct advantage for the freshman to have it.

Freshman Logic

Paul proposes that the freshmen get logic in the first semester of the Freshman year and epistemology in the second semester. The sophomores would take psychology both semesters and the juniors would take metaphysics the first semester and cosmology and natural theology the second semester. Ethics would be taken in the senior year.

The second proposal is a grade-cut correlated system, whereby a person with a 3.5 to 4.0 quality point average would have an unlimited number of cuts and would not have to submit an excuse. Students with a 3.0 to a 3.5 Q.P.A. would have double the cuts established in the catalogue, and those with a 2.0 to 3.0 Q.P.A. would have the present number of cuts with no excuses. Students with a Q.P.A. below 2.0 would be allowed no cuts without excuse.

Few students are aware of their Q.P.A. or of its importance. If the system would be put into effect, students would become aware of it. The grades of students would be stimulated by the rewards connected with grades increasing.

The system would put the responsibility of cutting and the attainment of grades on the individual where, in a liberal arts college such as Loyola, it should be placed, Paul suggests. The fact that students attained a high average would indicate a sufficiently mature outlook, which would cause him not to abuse the privilege.

Theology Revision

The third point would include a revision of the theology course. Paul points out that his plan would include the condensation of the present theology course to more interesting and specific theological subjects. Thus, the subject would be geared more for the laity.

Law Scholarship Won By Senior Pat Cullen

Patrick G. Cullen has been awarded a William J. Brennan Law Scholarship to the University of Notre Dame. It is valued at $5250 and entitles the holder to full tuition for three years plus a cash award of $750 each year for three years.

The scholarship, one of three awarded annually by the University, was awarded on the basis of Pat's rank in the top 10% of his class and his score on the Law Aptitude test, in which he placed in the 93rd percentile with a mark of 632 out of 800.

A senior political science major, Pat has also received a Dougherty Fellowship to Villanova, entitling him to tuition, board and room for three years.

Editorials

To Catch A Thief

Last week two dollars were taken from a student's wallet while he was playing basketball. Ordinarily an incident of this nature, because of its pettiness, would not move us to an editorial. However, the increasing number of these thefts indicates to us that it may become a serious problem. We neither ask for the return of the money, nor seek to inform the thief of the harm he has caused. We merely wish to indicate the serious implications of his act.

It is far too easy to judge a large group on the basis of a few. By injuring the reputation of an unknown student, the thief injures the reputation of all the students. If these occurrences become a common and accepted policy within the school, they lower the school's reputation and are therefore, serious hindrance to a graduate's career.

Futhermore, the more common these occurrences become, the easier it is to rationalize them on the grounds that everybody does it, or to accept the idea that only the ones who are caught are the ones who are wrong.

Thus the real meaning of the theft becomes obscure. We forget that stealing is a moral evil and wrong not because it is against the rules, but because it is wrong in itself. It can serve no purpose. It brings harm to those falling prey to its vanishing advantages. It creates a waste for which there is no substitute, since the petty thefts which we experience here take on gigantic proportions when applied to the world of our future.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

It has come to my attention in the course of my news reporting for the Greyhound that there is no spirit of co-operation between the student body and the Greyhound staff.

I do not mean that there is a feud going on between the two, quite the contrary: the feeling is not one of animosity but one of discord. It is the duty of the student body to co-operate with the Greyhound staff in the publication of newsworthy information.

When there occurs on campus an event, anything worthy of being published in the Greyhound, the staff must search painstakingly for information. Also, there is too much timidity among the students when being interviewed for a feature or news article. Students must realize that the Greyhound is a weekly publication and that the staff has a tough time getting together the bits of information made available to them. Publicity is the job of the students as well as the paper's staff.

Meet Bill Lohnes

Graduation this June will take with it a man who has done as much for The Greyhound as anyone could in four years at Loyola. The senior is Bill Lohnes who in addition to being Greyhound Sports Editor for a year and one-half, also worked on the Editorial and News Staffs.

It was Bill who tutored Bob Reiter, Roland Sturm, the present editor and sports editor. "They were pretty slow at first," comments Bill in a kidding fashion.

The Greyhound has only been one of many interests Bill has had at Loyola. He has been a member of the St. John Berchman's Society for four years, took part in swimming, as a freestyler, in his freshman and sophomore years, has been a fine second baseman on Loyola's baseball team during his junior and senior years, and has also been a committee-man for his junior and senior proms.

Great Help

Looking back upon four years at Loyola, Bill thinks extra-curricular activities have helped him greatly and said, "Those who take no part in them miss a lot."

Bill hails from Overlea. He graduated from Loyola High School in 1956. At the college he has taken Engineering-Physics. Most of his spare time is spent experimenting on the modulus of elasticity of metal bars.

Plans to Marry

After graduation, Bill plans to marry Miss Anne Creegan. Although he has not made exact plans, engineering will be his future either in management or engineering itself.

the Watchdog

Suicides occur more frequently in the spring than in any other season. Baltimoreans are often heard complaining about the lack of a springtime here in Baltimore. They say that we change directly from winter to summer. Some of the philosophy students hold that this is a healthy climate since the quick change cuts down our suicide rate.

Last Thursday Whitey's Super-Market was robbed to the tune of $3,200. Some person or persons unknown gained access to the locked office during business hours and took the money from an unlocked safe. The theft went unnoticed for twenty-four hours. Congratulations to our on the scene reporter, Rol Sturm for a terrific story and we sincerely hope he is enjoying his unexpected Florida vacation.

The seniors wish to take this opportunity to thank the gentleman who spices their early morning studies in the library with his raucous bellowing.

The juniors had an exam in R.O.T.C. last Tuesday. We know, because we could hear sad chants which sounded suspiciously like, "We want Sgt. Lochermann! We want Sgt. Lochermann!"

Thanks to the Dean of Men for the wonderful early morning music we heard Monday. Music of this type allows the boys to save their radios since Wheeling, West Virginia is extremely difficult to pick up in the daylight hours.

On a note of seriousness, we would like to congratulate the members of the Yearbook Staff who turned out a fine issue under many difficult conditions.

Most of the juniors are enjoying the spring term. Marks range anywhere from twenty to sixty in all their courses. Cheer up fellas, the Dean of Studies says he has enough deficiencies for everyone.

Although we haven't seen Harry lately, we want him to know that we understand his tardiness since his literary gem obviously takes many hours to complete.

How come the D.A. was dropped from the Perry Mason show without a proper trial.

The machines have asked me to please inform the student body that it does them no good to kick the machines until they have waited long enough for them to decide whether they will give one soda and no change, or no soda and some change, or no soda and no change. When the students kick a machine too soon, it causes a rejection of the quarter and the student is forced to begin again. This startles the machine and doesn't give it time to think.

Campus Question

CAMPUS QUESTION

(What is your opinion concerning the installation of an honor system here at Loyola?)

Jack Lindung, '60 Bus. Adm.: I am definitely in favor of the honor system being installed here at Loyola. College graduates should possess integrity and maturity, and therefore a system designed to teach them responsibility and independence would only add to their success in the working world.

Dave Carney, '61 Pol. Sci.: Since the backbone of an honor system would be total honesty, I cannot believe that this level of totality can be achieved. When dealing with the human element, it has been my sad experience to realize that in any group there is always the individual who thinks in terms of greed and selfishness.

Jim Mohler, '63 Bus. Adm.: Although the change to an honor system would create many new problems, it has been proven in the past by a number of colleges that any and all such problems can be solved. Not only would this system allow the faculty to relax but it would be a boon to the hard working student whose achievements are obscured by the success of the cheat.

Nick Kollman, '62 Acct.: I think the honor system would not work at Loyola because this system carries with it the obligation of informing on your fellow students. The diverse opinions held by the students indicating that this obligation would be ignored in some instances, and accompanied by ill-feeling and tension in others.

Joe O'Hara, '60 Engr. Physics: Although an honor system would be a fine idea, it poses some difficult problems. Not only would it require a tremendous amount of work and co-operation between student and faculty, but due to the impossible nature of some tests, it would also necessitate a marking system using the curve.

Pat Cullen, '60 Pol. Sci.: I am opposed to an honor system at Loyola. With the advent of such a system, one would be obliged to "turn in" any violators of the code. The pragmatic question which everyone must ask himself is, "Would I be willing to turn in my best friend, if I saw him cheating?" I do not think that the majority of Loyola students would.

Tom Hickey, '62 Bus. Adm.: I am opposed to the institution of an honor system at Loyola because I feel that the majority of the students would not strictly adhere to this code. The failure on part of the few to uphold the system would bring about its defeat.

Not really. 'Cause if Coke had been around in Caesar's day, Caesar would have treated himself to the sparkling good taste, the welcome lift of Coke! Caesar's motto—"I came, I saw, I conquered." Pretty good motto for Coke too—the prime favorite in over 100 countries today!

Stickmen Face W & L Here Tomorrow; 2:30

By Pete Cook

Loyola College opens its 1960 lacrosse season tomorrow at 2:30 when Washington and Lee invades the Evergreen campus.

Coach Undecided

Coach Charley Wenzel is undecided about who will be the starters in tomorrow's encounter. Either Jay Henkel or Darrell Russell will be in the goal with Mike Speigelmire, Mike Cross and Bob Reiter forming the defense. Three freshmen, Marty Quinn, Tom Daily and Bob Pisarski back up these three along with Tom Fields and Charley Graham.

The attack will be led by Jim Lamar, either Page Fried or Hugh Coyle, and either Pat Cullen or Mike Abromaitis in the crease. The starting midfield unit will probably be Ham Dugan, Bill Asher, and Jerry Beck. Marty Pilsch will also see a lot of action at that position.

Good Prospects

Since the Hounds record was 1-8 last year, Coach Charley Wenzel's statement of, "We should do better than last year," comes as no surprise. In their nine game schedule this year, perennial power Johns Hopkins and Hofstra will probably be the toughest opponents for the Hounds this year.

The Generals

Washington and Lee is led by perhaps one of the best midfields in the country. Skip Horst, Jay Stull, and Harry Alley scored 10 goals in their 15-6 conquest of the Hounds last year.

Linksmen Have Experience And Frosh Prospects

On Wednesday, April 6, the Loyola College golf team opens their season against a strong Washington College team.

Even though the Hound Golfers' previous record was a discouraging one win and five losses, the team is looking forward to a promising season.

Coach Nappy Doherty is optimistic and states that, "We will have a better season as a result of the newly gained experience of the team and an addition of two incoming freshmen."

Last season the team consisted of Bob Riley (captain), James Foley (junior), Ed Conway (soph) and their number one man Chuck Pessagno (junior).

In addition to these returning lettermen, two freshman "linksmen", Jay Lenhart from Loyola High School, and Bill Mislowsky from City College are expected to add to the team's winning potential.

The "duffers" gained needed experience last year but lacked a certain finesse and technique which cut short their winning ability.

Senior Midfielder Rick Pyle

Intramural Items

By Matthew Schwientek

After being seeded one, two respectively in intramural basketball the Hoodles and the Handy Six have been eliminated from intramural competition.

Another Moleskin Team

The Junior Skins defeated the twice champion Hoodles 30-24 thus becoming the first team in three years to eliminate them from intramural competition.

The Junior Moleskins rolled up a 17-9 halftime lead by virtue of Lamar's hot hand. Jim pumped in six of his eight points in the two initial periods.

Mike Ellis, high scorer for the game, held to five points in the first half, opened up and dropped in nine points in the second stanza for the Hoodles in their attempt to pull the game out.

The difference in the won and lost column can be attributed to the second quarter scoring. The Hoodles leading 7-3 in the first period were outscored 14-2 in the second period.

Credit should be given to Mike Rose for a commendable game. Mike played the whole game with his hand broken and bandaged.

Jocks Top Handy Six

The Jocks overpowered the Handy Six 34-23. Tom Gentner of the Handy Six was high scorer with 14 points. Close behind was Barry Truax who garnered 13 in a winning cause.

The Jocks had too much height with Barry Truax and John Howe controlling the boards. Nick Kollman of the Handy Six did a commendable job but could not outjump both big men.

Softball

Early Birds! Just a reminder to all those contemplating an entry in the intramural softball league. Better hurry and sign your men before all the power hitters are taken.

The powerladen Molesskins are talking in terms of a sweep. The Skins are still cocky after their 5-0 record of last year. They had an average of a little over 10 runs a game. A good reason to be cocky.

Hound Nine Oppose Bowdoin Tues. In Opener

By Charles Sullivan

Loyola's Greyhounds are going through their first workout before the season's opening game this coming Tuesday against Bowdoin College. This game opens an eighteen game schedule for the defending Northern Division Champ of the Mason-Dixon Conference.

Last year the Greyhounds opened their season with a thrilling 8-7 victory over this same Bowdoin nine. It took a two run rally in the bottom of the eighth inning, plus the strong relief pitching of Ray Short to post the victory. The visitors from Brunswick, Maine, put on a fabulous hitting show, banging out eighteen hits before bowing to the Greyhounds.

Coach Lefty Reitz will be counting on a combination of veterans and freshmen to guide the Greyhounds to victory. The probable starting lineup will find Ron Seager at first base, Bucky Effinger at second, George Yurek at third and freshman Charlie O'Donnell at shortstop. In the outfield will be Dave Carney in right, Dave Marshall in center, and freshman John Killen in left. Behind the plate it will be either Nick Jackson or Wade Bowman. The pitching will likely be split among hurlers Ray Short, Phil Potter, Mike Gardner and Ray Reilly.

Harriers Boost Cindermen's Hope

Though hampered by the snow, the 1960 Loyola tracksters have been attempting to get into shape for their opening meet by running their Cross Country course.

The Hounds open the season on Tuesday, April 5th against Washington College at Evergreen. Captain Paul Sherman, four year veteran and a consistent scorer, will concentrate on the 880 this year. Arnie Sapperstein, who finished second in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes in last year's finals, should have an even better year as a sophomore and will be out to eclipse his previous best time of 9.6 for the hundred which he set last year.

The newcomers, who were both members of the cross country team, are Hank McGraw who will be doing the mile, and Tom Kenney who will be in the 440. McGraw ran the mile at Hereford High. Kenney, although having no previous experience, has made great strides towards helping the team. Another newcomer being counted on is Rickey Campbell from Poly who will be one of our entries in the shot and discus events.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

By ROL STURM

Greyhound Sports Editor

Spring sports make their debut at Loyola this week (weather permitting) as the Hound lacrossers take on Washington and Lee tomorrow at 2:30 p.m., and the Hound baseball team encounters Bowdoin College on Tuesday here at Evergreen at 3:00 p.m. This marks the beginning of the busiest time of the year, sportswise, at Loyola.

The Hounds are off and running in five sports: baseball, lacrosse track, tennis, and golf. And the general outlook is pretty good, or at least promising.

Baseball Sparked All M-D's

Sparked by their All Mason-Dixon aces: rightfielder Dave Carney, first baseman Ron Seager, and pitcher Ray Short, the Hounds will be out to defend their division title and cop the M-D championship.

Leading hitter Bucky Effinger and centerfielder Dave Marshall will also be around to help the cause along with some outstanding freshman pitching prospects in Phil Potter from Towson Catholic and Mickey Gardner from Loyola High.

Lacrosse Team Determined

In past seasons the Hound lacrosse team has been faced with a schedule which was nothing short of suicidal. This year, however, in addition to a more sensible schedule the team has picked up some freshmen with high school experience to combine with the present veterans on the squad and give the Hounds hopes of a winning season.

Senior Paul Sherman To Captain Track Team
